STUDY ABROAD

Study Abroad Grade and Credit Conversion for UNC

Students who do not take graded credit courses with UNC Faculty will need to transfer their credits back to UNC. Please review the Study Abroad Grade and Credit Conversion Chart to determine the grade needed in order to be eligible for credit transfer and to determine how many credits you will receive when your credit transfers.

- Students must earn the equivalent of a C or better for credit to transfer back to UNC.

- UNC requires students to take the minimum equivalent of 12 UNC credit hours OR the minimum required by the host institution, whichever is higher.

- The Study Abroad Office adds new programs often. If a program is not currently listed on this chart or clarification is needed about the conversions, please reach out to the Credit Transfer Specialist at credit_abroad@unc.edu.

Academic Record and Study Abroad

YAP and ISP (Placeholder)
- When students agree to study abroad, they are registered with a YAP or ISP PLACEHOLDER on their academic record for that semester or summer session. Depending on the semester or summer abroad, the YAP or ISP placeholder states 6-12 credit hours on the student's transcript signifying that they are a full time student. The YAP or ISP placeholder is NOT the actual number of credit hours the student has earned abroad. The student must have their courses transferred from their host institution back to UNC in order for the true number of credit hours to be reflected accurately on their Transcript/TarHeelTracker/Academic Record.

TREQ (Credit Earned)
- Once the student completes the credit transfer process the courses taken abroad will show up on the student's THT/transcript as TREQ courses with a "PS" for "Pass". The TREQ courses are the actual number of credits earned abroad.
- Please review the Credit Transfer Process here: https://studyabroad.unc.edu/credit-transfer-process/.

IMPORTANT: Although transfer credits do not impact GPA, failing/withdrawing from courses while abroad can impact a student's Academic and Financial Aid Eligibility. Please speak with your Academic Advisor or Financial Aid Advisor for further information.
